In the class of articles entered for ex hibition but for no competition, there are several departments worthy of special mention.

Messrs. C. D. Russell & Co., our wellknown Chinamen, have quite a large space showing some of the very elegan goods they carry. The display contains some exceedingly handsome china sets, and the room occupied by this firm is one of the most attractive in the entire hall.

A most beautiful exhibit is the work of the Watters Party, now stationed in this city. Artistically placed are portraits of a number of the foremost citizens of this city, some now deceased, and the faith-fulness of execution attests the ability of these people in their profession. The display will be increased today by seve-

Mr. George H. Traxel, plumbing trade of Maysville, has a very handsome bathroom set exhibited. Lack of space prevented Mr. Traxel from mak-ing further display of his stock, but judging from his one set, firstclass goods are his specialty.

Another space is occupied by Mr. W H. Ryder, des'er in paints, wall paper etc. Mr. Ryder is always represented in the business enterprises, and his display at the Hall tends to keep up his reputa-tion in this respect and at the same time to let the people know he is still in busi

Another display attracting much atten-tion is the art work executed by the pupils of the city Public Schools. At the close of school in June this work was on erbibition at the High School Build-ing and was inspected by many people of the city who are interested in the ad-vancement of the pupils of our schools The clay modeling and paper cutting done at the primary department are in-deed excellent, attesting the true ideas of the little folks, while some of the more the little lois, while some or the more and difficult specimens by the seniors are highly complimented by visitors. The drawings are very good, and many of the pieces displayed here have been on exhibition in the Art School in St. Louis.

cellent display of their shoes. The high quality and variety of their snoes. The night quality and variety of their footwear are known to every buyer in this and adjoin-ing counties, and their exb bit at the Hall marks the enterprise of the firm and its pride in the goods handled.

The Maysville Cotton Mills also have a very good showing of the output of their factory. The Maysville Mills are aiready famous for their high class work, and the ismous for their high class work, and the display of the yars, cotton, carpet chains, etc., is a most pleasing sight in the business portion of the Hall.

SILVER has fallen 16 cents an oune At that rate of fall the amount of silver in a dollar would be worth about 5 cents in 1900. Yet, probably Mr. BRYAN would be just as willing to argue for a 5-cent dollar as a 40-cent one. He is apparently just as earnest in behalf of the 40-cent dollar today as he was for the 53-cent dollar a year ago.

Ex-candidate Bryan's six-column argument about wheat and silver and prices seems to have fallen flat. It is generally commented on by the press of the country as a flat failure as an "explanation" and so full of inaccuracies and false statements as to lower Mr. BRYAN in the estimation of those who were inclined to believe him at least honest in his expressions and arguments of last year.

WEEKLY CROP REPORT!

STATE OF KENTUCKY.

The week opened with excessive heat prevailing in all parts of the state. From the 10th to the 16th inclusive the maximum daily temperature over the state averaged 98°. A number of correspond ints report a temperature of 104° on th 19th and 14th. Such intense heat was never known before in this section so late in the season. At least it surpassed all in the season. At least it surpassed all records of September weather for the past twenty-six years at Louisville. The mean daily temperature averaged about 15° in excess of the normal for all sec-tions. The heat spell was broken on the 19th, when a change to cooler was her-alded by local showers in many parts of the state. As a rule they were light, and occurred mainly in the counties adjacent to the Ohio river, except in the Cantral section, where they extended as far as the Biuegrass region. In Union, Jeffer-son, Nelson, Shelby, Fayette, Madison and several counties in the Northern por and several counties in the Northern por-tion of the state the rainfall was sufficient to prepare the ground for plowing. Cropsof all kinds yet outstanding in these counties derived some benefit from these showers, but they came too late to mate-rially seffect the growth of corn, which was the main staple yet unbarvested. Over the state generally the crop situation has not at this writing changed much since our last report, except that the since our last report, except that the work of shocking corn and cutting to bacco has been prosecuted most vigor onely. It is now estimated that about one-half of the corn crop is in shock and three-fourths of the tobacco is housed. Only a small portion of the crops remained in the field liable to damage by frost which seemed imminent at the close of the week. A number of our correspondents in districts where considerable correspondents. is yet uncut say it is already safe from possible injury by frost. Late corn is of so little account in most parts of the state that farmers are not paying much attention to it. They are cutting the earl planted as rapidly as possible, and most correspondents say it will all be in shoc within the next week or ten days.

WESTERN SECTION. The situation in this section is that tured, are being cut as rapidly as pos Not that the farmers dread the prosper of a damaging frost, but because the ex-treme heat and drouth have reduced these crops to such a condition that nothing can now improve them.
